MSU-U of M Themed 'Paul Bunyan Breakfast' Starts New Tradition, Benefits Food Bank

LANSING, Mich. – Go Green, Go White! Go Maize, Go Blue! Fans of two great universities are invited to attend the 1st Annual Paul Bunyan Pancake breakfast, which will be held in Old Town's UrbanBeat Event Center on October 28 from 7 to 9AM. The Michigan State University and University of Michigan themed breakfast is named for the trophy awarded to the winner of each year's matchup between the teams. Community members are invited to share their team pride and help the community. The event is sponsored by EG WORKFORCE SOLU+IONS and proceeds will benefit Greater Lansing Food Bank.

"We thought to ourselves: what is a good way to get Spartans and Wolverines together for some fun, and how can we do something to help a local charity?" said Joni and John Szykiel, organizers of the event and Co-Founders of Created to C.

Mr. and Ms. Szykiel hope the event will have a fun, "tailgate-like" atmosphere. The event will feature "Tunes by T;" video highlights of both teams; and a silent auction featuring four tickets to the game and autographed footballs from both coaches. Pancakes are the centerpiece of the buffet style meal, honoring the rivalry and Michigan's history in the lumber industry. Guests are encouraged to wear their team's colors and stop in for breakfast on the way to the office. Tickets are $25 per person and include the meal. Tickets can be purchased at the door or online at paulbunyanthebreakfast.bpt.me/. For more event details, sports fans can contact CJ Davis at 517-331-8440. UrbanBeat Event Center is located at 1213 Turner St., Lansing, MI 48906.

"At Employment Group, we work with our business partners to transform their future through 'great people.' The game, this breakfast, MSU, U of M, Greater Lansing Food Bank, all are transforming the community and we are proud to be the title sponsor," stated Mark Lancaster, CEO of EG WORKFORCE SOLU+IONS.

"We are always grateful when the community can come together to help those in need," said Joe Wald, Executive Director at Greater Lansing Food Bank. "UrbanBeat Event Center is a great location, EG Workforce Solutions is a great community partner and at the end of the day, the beneficiary will be those in need in Mid-Michigan."

Greater Lansing Food Bank (GLFB) was created in 1981 to meet a need in the Greater Lansing community that became critical during the major recession of the early 1980's. Through a network of community partners, GLFB is working to provide access to good, healthy and plentiful food for all. In 2015, more than 6,000,000 meals were provided to people who might otherwise go hungry in the mid-Michigan region. The majority of the people we serve are children and seniors on fixed incomes. Unfortunately, the need continues.
