

- 1 RPO stands for Recruitment Process Outsourcing. It's a term for when a company transfers all or part of its recruitment efforts to an external provider.
- 2 An RPO provider can function as an external extension of a recruiting department, or it can manage existing personnel onsite within an organization.
- 3 RPO solutions are not one-size-fits-all. They're customized to a specific set of services tailored to a company's needs.
- 4 RPO gives in-house recruiters a pool of critical talent using world-class recruitment methodologies and market insights.
- 5 RPO providers enhance recruitment efforts through scalability, cost savings, a technology stack, and predictive analytics.
- 6 RPO centralizes recruiting and onboarding, shortens time-to-hire, reduces cost-per-hire, ensures you have top talent to hire top talent and the latest innovations in data collection, information-sharing, record-keeping and all facets of recruitment.
